Love your enemy?

While observing a PBS documentary recently, the story was on how US soldiers who were of a Christian background had much difficulty with interrogating Taliban insurgents, and Islamic terrorist. In one such interview a Christian soldier had said that while integrating this Islamic jihadist who had used or manipulated him with New Testament scripture claimed that he was wronged by the soldier for interrogating him. This poor Christian was then under guilt of conscience because he was told that he was not following the bible correctly, and was in violation of sinning against G-d because he was not loving his enemy or doing what the scriptures had said regarding the treatment of an enemy. If they are found in the school system they will then get their lunch. The school system claims that this new system is designed to speed up lunch lines, save the district money and solve the problem of forgotten or lost lunch money. They hope to expand this scan program by 2012 in all school systems. Wow! This sounds a little like what the book of revelation has to say about no one could sell or buy unless they had the mark of the beast (c). But in this case students who do not wish
