Jewish issues with Yishayahu.Isa. 7:14

While being asked one day by a fellow Jewish person, is the Hebrew word for virgin <sup>(1a&b)</sup> used in Isaiah 7:14 right? Why was this question being asked? Because within Judaism many reject and object to the concept and claims of or more plainly a virgin giving or having a supernatural birth as scripture relates. Mind you our people can put faith in the supernatural when it comes to Sarah's miracle birth <sup>(2)</sup>, the parting of the red sea <sup>(3)</sup>, and let us not forget the famous Elijah's fire coming out of heaven <sup>(4)</sup>. But when it comes to having faith or belief that G-d did make a supernatural birth happen in the body of a virgin girl in fulfillment to Isa.7:14 <sup>(5)</sup>, we have a major problem! The argument is mostly based on the interpretation of that passage. Most modern rabbinic commentators claim that the meaning of the word "virgin" is really be'tulah <sup>(6)</sup>. But if Betulah was or is the correct meaning then the writer would have clearly made it say so. Remember the prophet was not to insert his own meaning into the words of G-d <sup>(7)</sup>. When G-d speaks it is to be accepted not rearranged or changed to fit certain bias opinions. Unfortunately this.....

The Old Testament is obsolete!

In this month we wish to share on a subject that's so widely expressed among some within Christiantome. For years we have heard the statements "We don't need the Old Testament, or the Old Testament is done away with (N)! But the issue is Ignorance and plain misunderstanding about the Old Testament called in the Hebrew (The Te'nakh-(OT))<sup>(a)</sup> While many fail to realize that in the 1st century the material of all scripture was from the Tenakh <sup>(b)</sup> no other existed beside it until seventy years after the resurrection of the Messiah. Therefore the scriptures taught to them every Shabbat (Sabbath) <sup>(c)</sup> came from the only source they had, the Tenakh. The scriptures of the B'rit ha dasha (NC) came much later in the form of oral teaching, written epistles followed by written canonization. But still the Tenakh was greatly used as a main resource for both believer and unbelieving Jewish persons <sup>(d)</sup>. The Jewish apostles never dismissed its use, nor made the point of insisting it was obsolete. However we must realize that when in the book of Hebrews the scripture relates that he removed the first covenant to replace it with another, does not imply that the whole body of writings within the Tenakh was also removed <sup>(e)</sup>. What was replaced was the mosaic covenant or Old Testament sacrificial system <sup>(f)</sup> found in the first five books of Moshe, not the whole body of scripture! For crying out loud folks! If that were a fact what in the world we do about all the unfilled prophecies mentioned in the area of the Old Testament prophets? Not to mention the valuable lessons and messianic prophecy found in psalms and other prophets throughout. While the mosaic covenant is replaced the rest of the Old Testament scripture is NOT! It's a fact that .....
